

/WHAT IS ASSESSED HERE: HOW YOU UNDERSTAND AND EXPERIENCE INTERCONNECTEDNESS, VERSUS VALUES LIKE AUTONOMY AND INDEPENDENCE.

What this tells you:

This graph shows only one dimension – cognitive - indicating that you have knowledge about this aspect, without necessarily connecting it with your behaviors. You might use this information to seek ways to convert your understanding into action.

We don't have enough data to report about your feelings on this topic.

YOUR SMI RESPONSES INDICATE THAT you have a clear understanding that we are all interconnected, even in non-obvious ways, and that no one is really fully independent.

At the same time, your choices suggest that you thrive in contexts where you can compete and work towards being your personal best. We cannot comment on how you feel about this topic, since you indicated (by choosing "neither") that you did not find yourself represented by either of the available options.

However, our achievements are a validation of our personal capabilities in action. How important is it for you to outperform others?

Sometimes our own expectations are the hardest to meet. Furthermore, in many settings where teamwork or collaboration is expected, it may be challenging to balance your individual performance with the collective contributions, and your personal efforts, gifts or skills may go unrecognized, or possibly even unappreciated.

/THOUGHTS TO PONDER WHEN YOU CONSIDER THE SM:

The polarities of independence vs. interconnectedness and competition vs. collaboration are of particular relevance when focusing on sustainability. The environmental and social challenges are complex and multidimensional, making it impossible for any person to solve on their own. It is only through collective thinking, action and collaboration of multiple stakeholders that we will be able to develop alternatives. (This, by the way, makes sustainability a great opportunity for contributing personal skills to a larger cause).

While certain cultures have a collectivistic framework, most of the western-northern culture - widely exported and globalized - is individualistic and celebrates personal achievement. However, is this realistic and even feasible?

Let's pause for a moment: Can you name one achievement that was purely and authentically your own without another person playing any role in it?

/HOW ABOUT YOU TRY:

We invite you to explore what success and autonomy mean for you. What are the roots of these values for you, perhaps in your upbringing or in your current context? Are they authentically a priority for you, or are they something automatically inherited, or adopted without giving it much thought?

If you have identified an accomplishment that you consider authentically your merit, make a list of who may have played a role in it. Rank them, in order of relevance or impact on your success. What does this exercise tell you about the polarity of autonomy versus interconnectedness?

When we see interconnectedness, we understand the importance of diversity, and our decisions and actions become more inclusive, which contributes to the sustainability of the whole.
