

/WHAT IS ASSESSED HERE: HOW AWARE YOU ARE ABOUT THE ANCHORS OF YOUR IDENTITY AND YOUR VALUES; HOW YOU FEEL AND ACT IN CONSEQUENCE.

What this tells you:

This graph shows two dimensions, the behavioral and affective. This means that you connect emotionally with this aspect, and act upon it, perhaps without a full understanding of why it is important. You may find it interesting to deepen your understanding of this principle.

YOUR SMI RESPONSES INDICATE THAT you see the world through a precise lens that is, and has for a long time been, the most widely shared paradigm.

In the world as you (and so many others) see it, you recognize the immense progress that humanity has made, particularly accelerated over the last century. You realize that competition has driven individuals to seek to be better than and outperform others, and the resulting inventions have vastly improved the quality of life for people on this planet.

This progress may have come at a price that we now see, particularly at the environmental or social level, but from your perspective the fallout was not intentional and was justified by the benefits. Human “can-do” spirit and individual ambition will continue developing new solutions.

/HERE IS A NOTEWORTHY FINDING:

Through the selections you made in the survey, you suggest some tension, an uncomfortable feeling of misalignment between some of the things you do and how you would prefer to see yourself. You may have been taught certain values, like being a winner, not being a loser, remaining rational at all times, having more to be more. And you became these values.

But then something has begun to shift and these values don't feel entirely OK any longer. This may make you feel confused, perhaps a bit guilty at times. You may even feel more grateful or indebted to others for their help in your achievements than stubbornly proud of being a self-made person.

You are aware.

You have been noticing that many of your automatic behaviors are actually not very environmentally friendly, or perhaps have some kind of negative social impact. This seems to have motivated you to try to make some changes, which probably was somewhat challenging and didn't give you a good feeling of satisfaction.

And yet this is a very important moment of awareness: change starts with our noticing some discomfort about something, and we want to do something about it to feel better (or at least less bad). In this case, you seem to have achieved this very important step. Of course it can be overwhelming to think about the complex problems. But what if you start small?

/THINK ABOUT HOW YOU CAN LEVERAGE THOSE STRENGTHS AND MANAGE SOME OF THE LIMITATIONS WHICH MAY BE HOLDING YOU BACK:

Your intuition and actions are not mainstream, and thus very important to drive much needed change. How happy are you with how you are sharing your valuable perspectives with others? Do you feel you are doing it as much as you could?

Let's pause for a moment.

/THOUGHTS TO PONDER WHEN YOU CONSIDER THE SM:

This survey was designed around the Sustainability Mindset, which is a way of thinking and being, to optimally adapt to the moment in which we are living. This Mindset focuses on using our natural gifts to shape a better future, for ourselves and for all, the ecosystem included.

Research has proven that what may sound overwhelming, actually can be broken down into small, realistic ways to contribute to the greater good, and, as you well know, feel great at the same time. The first step is taking a fresh look at what surrounds us.

Undoubtedly, there are social and environment related challenges everywhere. Some happen locally, others across borders. Science has been linking many of these issues to human behaviors, such as consumption of unhealthy foods, depletion of natural resources, pollution or contamination of air, soil and water. And we are left to deal with the consequences today, trapped in a paradigm that prioritizes values that have a negative impact, such as thoughtless consumption.

But what if we would realize that some our habits today are (unintentionally) contributing to more of these problems in the future? And vice versa: What if a change in a small habit today could do its part to shape a better future?

/HOW ABOUT YOU TRY:

Can you think of few habits of yours that might qualify? We don't know what we can until we try. And when we put aside cynicism for a moment, we actually may feel a deep sense of joy. Sometimes we shift our values as a result of a new experience. Worth trying, right?

Another suggestion is that you explore the roots of some values that are important for you, such as success, winning, and outperforming others. Where can you trace their origins? Perhaps in your upbringing, or in your current context? What do they represent for you, which makes them important? Are they authentically yours, or are they perhaps inherited, adopted without giving much thought to it?

When we explore our personal values, beliefs, assumptions and motivations, we gain greater control over our actions and we can see new alternative behaviors.
