/YOUR SMI CHOICES INDICATE THAT

you thrive on the adrenaline of urgency. You find multitasking very stimulating and are gifted with endurance. You enjoy the tension which brings out your best performance.

We cannot further comment on how those feelings relate to your thinking or behaviors, since you indicated (by choosing "neither") that you did not find yourself represented by either of the available options.

/THINK ABOUT HOW YOU CAN

LIMITATIONS WHICH MAY BE HOLDING YOU BACK:

Questions for reflection: Does it ever happen that you wish you could relax, slow down and do nothing? Does your body, your mind or perhaps your soul call for less stress, or even a break? What message might be there for you, waiting to be heard?

/THOUGHTS TO PONDER WHEN YOU CONSIDER THE SM:

Since we are looking at these aspects from the perspective of a sustainability mindset, let's pause and think about what behaviors might be most effective as well as much needed.

While there is a call for urgent action about climate change and the related social and environmental problems, many modern sustainability challenges are actually the result of overlooked potential impacts.

For decades, well-intended decisions were largely made by quickly identifying the best option. But today we are understanding better that problems are complex, that solutions impact a multiplicity of future stakeholders, and that there are always consequences. Of course, it is not possible to anticipate all scenarios, but pausing and checking assumptions as you do it can be very useful to avoid future problems.

For example, what can you learn to avoid or repeat from past experiences? Can you identify in hindsight, what was at stake? When we have more information we can better weigh alternatives.

All of this, however, is at odds with speed. We cannot both act fast and ponder carefully.

The question becomes: Is decisiveness and fast action coming at an expensive price for you and others, us, the next generations, and the ecosystem?

Food for thought!

/HOW ABOUT YOU TRY:

What message may be there for you, waiting to be heard and acted upon? And how can you more confidently share this different way of being and living with others?

Reflective practices help to pause, and to ponder the situation and its implications before jumping into action.
